MAST-JÄGERMEISTER SE THE COMPANY

The roots of the family business Jägermeister reach back to 1878, when Wilhelm Mast founded a vinegar manufactory in Wolfenbüttel. His son Curt Mast took over the company in 1917 and pursued a new approach. Fascinated by the development and production of spirits, he experimented with a new product. The result: a herbal liqueur made from 56 herbs, blossoms, roots, and fruits with an alcohol content of 35 percent. The recipe remains unchanged to this day. Jägermeister has been distributed in Germany for 90 years and is now sold in more than 150 markets worldwide. The company has always shaped the cultural zeitgeist: from early hunting traditions to iconic advertising and sports sponsorship, to its long-standing connection with music, nightlife, and the festival scene.

The company is headquartered in the small northern German town of Wolfenbüttel. Here you will find both the main administration and production. The unique Jägermeister base is manufactured exclusively here. Every single shot of Jägermeister originates in Wolfenbüttel. Today, more than 1,000 employees are employed worldwide – about a third of them in the six international regional offices and four subsidiaries. Since 2011, the company has been operating as Mast-Jägermeister SE and remains in family ownership in its fifth generation.
